AJHS student serves as ambassador

By Mike Lydick Turley Publications Correspondent

JANUARY 30, 2014

AGAWAM — Amanda Moquin wants to make the world a better place. That's why the Agawam Junior High School eighth grader was thrilled to participate in Gov. Deval Patrick's annual community service program that honors Dr. Martin Luther King Jr's legacy.

Moquin represented Agawam at Project 351, a nonprofit organization dedicated to celebrating youth leadership, inspiring the ethic of service, and building unity across the state. She was among 400 eighth-grade "ambassadors" from around Massachusetts who performed community service at several non-profit organizations locations in Boston on Saturday, Jan. 18.

AJHS Principal Norm Robbins said each of his three eighth grade teaching teams nominated one to two students in November. Nominations were based on students' school and community involvement and spirit as well as their

"Amanda was an outstanding candidate from the start," Robbins said. "She's a natural leader and role model for her peers. Her community involvement and willingness to help others is equally admirable.'

Moquin, 13, said she was "pretty surprised" when she learned Robbins and Superintendent William Sapelli selected her from among all the nominated eighth graders. "There are a lot of great students in my class, so I feel very honored," she said.

AJHS teacher Jennifer Mac-Donald, faculty advisor/coach for Project 351 and Moquin's Spanish teacher, said student ambassadors are chosen for their exemplary ethic of service, potential for leadership, and embodiment of the values of compassion, commitment, humility, and kindness.

Council split on contract negotiations

Deadlocked in a 5-5 vote last week

> By Gregory A. Scibelli Turley Publications Correspondent

AGAWAM - The Agawam City Council lacked the majority vote needed to fund new three-year contracts negotiated by seven different unions representing Agawam town employees.

The council was deadlocked in a 5-5 vote last week to fund a 2 percent raise for employees in fiscal year (FY) 2014, and 1.5 percent increases in FY2015 and FY2016. There were no cost-ofliving adjustments included.

Councilors voting against funding the contract agreed that last year's budget process was the benchmark for what the raises should have been. Council President Christopher Johnson said the amount of money required to fund the increased salaries during the current fiscal year exceeded the amount the council approved back in June 2013.

Council Vice President Dennis Perry agreed, saying the council was ignored.

"When we were hashing out the budget, we agreed to cut the salary reserve to be used in contract negotiations," said Perry. "The unions turned around and negotiated for what they wanted. It was like a slap in the face." Perry said the council funded $210,000 to cover salary increases. Johnson said that would have funded an approximately 1.5 percent raise during FY2014.

"We made a decision beforehand about what we could afford," said Johnson. "The amount they Please see CONTRACT, page 6

Residents displaced after kitchen fire

Two people transported to hospital for smoke inhalation

By Jennifer Wroblewski Staff Writer

AGAWAM — Two people were transported to Baystate Medical Center earlier this week with minor smoke inhalation following a kitchen fire at an apartment complex located on Springfield Street, according to Agawam Fire Chief Alan Sirois.

Firefighters were called to Brady Village Apartments around 4:15 p.m. Monday, Jan. 27 for a reported kitchen fire that started when grease ignited while the resident was cooking, said Sirois. The occupant and an unidentified Agawam police officer who arrived to assist, sustained "minor smoke inhalation" and were transported to Baystate Medical Center where they were listed in stable condition, said Sirois.

Firefighters were able to extinguish the fire "very quickly after the arrival of the first engine on scene," Sirois said.

The apartment sustained fire damage to the kitchen and smoke damage throughout the first floor. Other units in the complex were not affected, said Sirois, who estimated the damage at about $25,000.

The apartment is not habitable, he said.

Additional information was not available at presstime.

Planning board, council hold workshop

Mixed use Business C zoning amendment discussed

By Christopher Faille

Turley Publications Correspondent

AGAWAM - Four years have passed now since the town put forth its 2010 Agawam Economic Development Plan, and pursuant to the implementation of that vision, the Agawam Planning Board hosted a workshop with the Agawam City Council Thursday, Jan. 16, during which the "Mixed Use Business C District Zoning Amendment" was discussed.

According to Deborah Dachos, director of Planning and Community Development, the 2010 plan recommended the redevelopment "of vacant and underutilized properties for retail, commercial, and mixed-use" and the encouragement of "design standards that address architectural design, landscaping, pedestrian movement, and traffic flow," that would create a "village/town center for residents.'

Much of the Q-and-A that followed Dachos' presentation involved the former 'Games and Lanes' building, a site encompassing more than 2 acres that is contaminated by a dry-cleaning chemical and thus regarded as a 'brownfield.' One of the participants in the meeting called this "the biggest eyesore in town staring everyone in the Dachos said that she is working very hard to find a private developer who will take on the task of building up this area in accord with the 2010 vision, but there is a large hurdle for any such developer: an estimated $600,000 price tag attached to the necessary clean-up, a price that may go higher.

If a developer does have faith in the profitability of its plans - enough faith to invest the money needed to take responsibility for the brownfield – the town doesn't want to be in the position of saying, "We want you to expend that money but we don't know if what you want to do with the property to make it worthwhile will then be allowed anyway." Part of the goal of the new mixed-use zone, then, is to increase the level of confidence with which a developer could approach the risks and rewards.

Currently, the area is a hodgepodge of zones: Business A, Business B, and Industrial A. If the mixed use zoning amendment passes, it will be rationalized into one zone: Business C.

Dachos said that she understands some officials in town are concerned that the ZBA will lose discretionary authority with the creation of the new zone. But she added this this is a misunderstanding. Much of what will be doable in the new zone will require a special permit, so the ZBA won't be forfeiting control; it will actually be gaining additional tools in overseeing, for example, drivethrough service windows or dry cleaners.

A sit-down restaurant will, under the proposed ordinance, be allowed by right within the new zone, but it could not be free-standing. It would have to be part of a larger proj-

Blood donations needed this winter

 $\mathbf{B}^{ ext{lood}}$ is vital to our existence. It is always in need.

Every two seconds, someone in the United States needs blood. In order to meet patient needs, the American Red Cross needs to collect 22,000 units of blood each weekday and around 15,000 units each weekend.

That's a lot of blood.

However, blood collections don't last forever. In fact, blood has a shelf life of only 42 days; platelet donations are even more perishable - they must be used within five days of collection.

The roughly one-hour process of donating blood can help trauma victims, heart surgery patients, organ transplant recipients, premature babies and patients receiving treatment for leukemia, cancers and many other diseases

All blood types are needed, especially type O negative. Individuals who are 17 years of age (16 with parental permission), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood.

High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

We encourage our readers to consider donating blood at one of several upcoming blood drives:

On Wednesday, Feb. 12, Westfield State University will host a blood drive at Parenzo Gym at the university campus from 1 to 7 p.m. Donation types accepted are double red cells and blood.

On Friday, Feb. 14, an American Red Cross Blood Drive will be held at Southwick Town Hall, 454 College Highway, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Donation types accepted will be double red cells and blood. Donors will receive a free Yankee Candle.

On Tuesday, Feb. 18, an American Red Cross Blood Drive will be held at St. John's Lutheran Church in Westfield from noon to 6 p.m. All presenting donors will receive a free Monro Muffler coupon.

The next American Red Cross Blood Drive to be held in Agawam will take place Wednesday, March 5 at The Ice Cream Shop, 459 Springfield Street, from 2 to 7 p.m.

Never donated blood before? Here are a few things you should know before making your donation:

- · Drink plenty of fluids before and after the donation.
- Wear something comfortable: short sleeves or loose clothing.
- Be sure to eat iron-rich foods in the weeks before your donation.
- If taking medications (both prescribed and over the counter), bring a list to the blood drive so volunteers know what may be in your system.

Don't wait. Roll up your sleeve and be a hero to someone who needs you.

Ask for the nations

The psalmist says this in Psalms 2:8-12, "Ask of me, and I will make the nations your inheritance, the ends of the

them with an iron scepter; you will dash them to pieces like pottery. Therefore, you kings, be wise; be warned, you rulers of the earth. Serve the LORD with fear and rejoice with trembling. Kiss the Son, lest he be angry and you be destroyed in your way, for his wrath can flare up in a moment. Blessed are all who take refuge in him." (NIV)

We need to ask God for our nation. There is a revolt against godliness and moral values. People are rising up in America and boldly defying that this is a nation under God. Yet Jesus loves and wants America and He wants us to ask for America.

This nation is sinking, slipping from its foundations.

The Constitution is being redefined and the bible is being removed. We are warned in 2 Thessalonians 2:3-4 which says, "Don't let anyone deceive you in any way, for that day will not come until the rebellion occurs and the man of lawlessness is revealed, the man doomed to destruction. He will oppose and will exalt himself over everything that is called God or is worshiped, so earth your possession. You will rule that he sets himself up in God's temple, proclaiming himself to be God" (NIV).

There is and is coming a great rebellion, a falling away from biblical norms. The word in Greek used for rebellion is "apostasia" from which our word apostasy is derived. The word implies a political revolt, an open and aggressive defiance against the laws of God.

God sits in heaven and laughs at man's revolt. This is not the time for the church to be discouraged, but it is time for the church to boldly ask; to ask God for our nation. God has promised the nations as an inheritance to Christ and whatever He inherits we also inherit because we are called co-heirs with Christ. (Galatians 4:7, Romans 8:17)

So Lord, we ask you to begin to draw all nations into your body. While the world rejects you and mocks you, we ask for the nations and especially our nation, America. God bless America.

Memories of Rose and Ernest

Sometimes a story comes to me and it almost seems like some big guy in the sky has something to do with it. Part of me thinks it's luck, but the other part thinks it's more

Last fall, I was looking through a box of books at a tag sale when I found a program for the AHS 1940 musical, "The Pirates of Penzance." Directed by Ruth Perry, it was the same musical that Peter Carando sang the lead in for Darcy Davis in 1955, the first year for Darcy and our new high school. Cindy, the young woman in charge of the tag sale, would not let me buy it. She wanted to give it to me and said that if I could wait, she had something else inside that, like the program, used to belong to Rose Paro, the woman who used to own her house.

Cindy brought me what I would call a small dance card or booklet which had been used by Rose at the junior-senior promenade on May 14, 1943. Inside were the names of the junior class officers: Lewis Jones, president; Lois Fournier, vice president; Jean Blackburn, secretary and Francis Hart, treasurer. The next little page had a list of the patrons and patronesses: Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Phelps,

Mr. and Mrs. F.T. Dacey, Miss Eleanor Smith, Miss Ruth Dickerson, Mr. and Mrs. I. Nolin and Mr. and Mrs. L.J. Jones. Rose had filled in the center pages which had the order of dances. She began the evening with Ernest in the grand march. The next four dances were fox trots which she did with Bob, Don, Francis and Joe. Dance six was a fox trot again and Ernest was back as her partner. He stayed on for dance seven, a waltz. Irving was her partner for dance eight, another fox trot. Paul S. had a fox trot with dance nine and Herbert M. waltzed with Rose for dance 10. A fox trot with Bill for number 11 and Rose saved the last dance, a waltz, for Ernest.

The back page was titled "Memories." Rose filled in the blank spaces and this is how it reads: "I always remember that glorious evening I spent with Ernest P. at the junior senior promenade May 14, 1943. The decorations and refreshments were grand. We arrived at 8 and I had the grand march with Ernest P. I very much enjoyed the beautiful waltz I had with Ernest. We went to Tinti's and when I finally crawled up the stairs with my shoes off, it was 1:15 o'clock. I had the most wonderful evening I've had for a long time."

The prom book was put in a safe place, sure to be a story if more could be found out about Rose. Then luck or fate, something took over. A few weeks ago I was putting away some old columns and one or two were upside down. There it was, the obituary of Rose Paro on the back of the Dec. 18, 2008 column from the Agawam Advertiser News. A perfect Sunday morning breakfast while back, I gave you a recipe for A"French Toast-On-The-Go." Today's recipe is just for two and it makes a nice breakfast for a Saturday or Sunday morning and perfect on a morning when you are snowed in. I always make this with whole wheat cinnamon raisin swirl bread but you may substitute plain white or whole wheat while adding an extra pinch of cinnamon and about two tablespoons of raisins. Sprinkle the raisins in with the bread.

If desired, you may prepare this recipe, as directed, the night before. The next morning you may reheat in the microwave preparing the maple rum sauce at the last minute. Crisp bacon and a fresh fruit cup are a wonderful compliment to this dish. I like the readyto-serve bacon that takes only 45 seconds to prepare in the microwave.

Rum Raisin French Toast

ner to "young budding leaders" like Moquin. In addition to providing students with support and assistance, Project 351 coaches encourage student ambassadors to spearhead service projects at their school.

'Perfect candidate'

MacDonald called Moquin the "perfect candidate" for a one-year term of community service, leadership, and enrichment. "Amanda was recommended for Project 351 because of her commitment and dedication to helping others," she said.

Moquin, a peer mediator who helps students resolve conflicts, has been involved in organizing various activities throughout the year to promote peaceful conflict resolution and bullying awareness. She's also a member of the Rachel's Table Teen Board, working with other teens to alleviate childhood hunger in Western Massachusetts and educating youth about local hunger.

As part of that work, Moquin picked apples at a farm to donate to a local food pantry, baked with the elderly (the baked goods were also donated), and helped organize a Thanksgiving food drive. She said Rachel's Table has made her realize how much of a problem hunger is – not just around the world, but also closer to home in her own country.

"Our country produces the most food, but a lot of people still go hungry. It's crazy. Some people have too much food and others don't have enough," said Moquin.

Helping others brings joy

"Amanda's empathy for others is inspiring to those around her," said MacDonald, who is also the advisor to the peer mediation program and to the Rachel's Table Teen Board. "Amanda has told me how much she enjoys doing things for others. She has this great desire to help people – and hopefully this will continue throughout the rest of her life."

Following a town meeting at Faneuil Hall hosted by the governor, Moquin and her fellow ambassadors fanned out across Boston for an afternoon of service at several nonprofit organizations before attending a closing "call to service" at the State House.

Moquin volunteered at the Pine Street Inn, a facility that serves more than 1,600 homeless adults daily. She and other ambassadors created birthday cards for tenants in permanent supportive housing, packed personal care kits for hundreds of homeless men and women served daily by outreach workers, made apple pies for the inn's evening guests, and painted uplifting murals for the residence halls.

"It was pretty exciting to meet the governor – but the best part of my day was knowing I was doing something to make other people's lives better," said Moquin. "I like helping others so they can enjoy the same happiness I have."

Family reaction

Her parents, Joanne and Gary Moquin, are "ecstatic" about their youngest daughter's involvement with Project 351. "We've always been proud of her and her involvement in volunteer/community service, so this only confirmed the qualities we see in her as a caring and nurturing young woman," said Joanne Moquin, who added that both of her daughters (oldest, Kayla, is a student at AHS) are interested in helping and volunteering. "It's not because we pushed them – they decided for themselves. We're always proud and eager to provide encouragement," she added.

The Moguins said community involvement is important because it gives more depth and experience beyond school work, opening up doors to "endless possibilities" in the future. "This is a good thing for Amanda. It's shaping her to be a well-rounded, thoughtful young woman," said Gary Moquin.

Joanne Moquin described Amanda as "a very giving person" and "a good sharer" ever since she was in elementary school. "Amanda has always been one to find the good in others. She truly enjoys seeing others happy. She likes to put a smile on people's faces."

Council split on contract negotiations

are seeking far exceeds that."

Perry says the salary reserve item for the increases was cut in order to keep the tax levy below the threshold that would have increased the tax rate on both residents and businesses.

"I feel like we need to stick to the decision we made in June," said Perry.

Agreeing with him were councilors Cecelia Calabrese, Donald Rheault, and Robert Rossi, who all voted against funding the contract. Councilors George Bitzas, Paul Cavallo, James Cichetti, Joseph Mineo, and Anthony Suffriti all voted in favor of funding the contract. Councilor Gina Letellier was absent from the meeting.

Mayor Richard A. Cohen expressed disappointment after learning the council had chosen not to fund the 2 percent raise.

"The contracts were negotiated in good faith," said Cohen. "The school side received raises. It is unfair to the city employees to not give them the same thing."

Cavallo and Bitzas both argued in favor of the raises. Cavallo said the practice for the past 15 years is to give equal percentage raises to employees in town departments as the ones given to school district employees. The council did not take money out of the school salary reserve.

Bitzas believed the town could afford the raises.

"I know it is difficult times right now," said Bitzas. "But I believe the town can afford this. These are fair raises. It is 5 percent over three years. These are people who have families they need to take care of."

Three lawyers for the unions spoke during the public comment portion of the meeting asking the council for their approval of the raises.

Attorney John Connor said the unions negotiated in good faith.

"Since July 2010, the salary increases have increased at an average of 1.3 percent," said Connor. "That is a very modest increase."

The denial of the contracts means Cohen and his law department will have to return and renegotiate the contracts with the unions.

The same issue happened in 2011. The council refused to fund contracts that included a 0 percent increase, followed by increases of 1 percent and 2 percent. The contracts would eventually be approved.

The affected unions are Agawam Police Supervisors Association, Agawam Clerical Employees Association, Agawam Department of Public Works Employees Association, Agawam Police Patrolmen's Association, Agawam Building Maintenance Association, Agawam Administrative Unions, and AFL-CIO, Local 1973 Firefighters Association.

Several members of each union were present at the meeting, though no individual members spoke during public comment.

YMCA breaks ground in Agawam

not be a traditional YMCA with a pool and full gymnasium, however. It was have a fitness center, technology center, and café. There will also be space for fitness classes such as Zumba.

Smith said it will have the look and feel of a community center.

"This is a cutting edge concept," he said.
"This is a place where people can either work out or maybe get something done on the computer, or just have a snack and hang out with friends."

Six Flags New England had a strong presence at the event, with two of their Looney Tunes mascots greeting visitors to the press conference. Six Flags made a sizable, undisclosed donation toward the construction of the new Y. The donation was large enough that the fitness center will be named for Six Flags, Smith said.

Smith credited Agawam Mayor Richard A. Cohen with being a true partner and friend in the development of the concept.

Cohen said he is pleased to see more positive things happening in the plaza formerly known as the Foodmart plaza. He is also pleased to see the YMCA have a presence in town for the first time in more than 40 years.

"The last thing we had in town over 40 years ago was Camp Millbrook," said Cohen. "Now we are going to have something new and exciting. It's going to be a prototype. No one in the region is going to have a facility like this."

City Councilors George Bitzas and Anthony Suffriti were both present for the groundbreaking. The council has recently been evaluating a zone change for the area and Bitzas said he is pleased to see progress.

"I'm very excited to have the Y come here in town," said Bitzas. "It is another step in the right direction to re-vitalize this area."

Smith said he began working with Cohen in 2005.

"There were times where we were not sure this was ever going to happen," said Smith. "But I am really happy to be here to break ground on this location."

Smith said the new Y is going to be considered a hybrid of sorts because it lacks the traditional gymnasium and swimming pool of a YMCA facility. He said those are two of the most costly parts of building a Y and he is hoping that this facility will encourage similar types to come to fruition because the option may be more affordable.

Like other Y's, there will be memberships sold. Anyone at the press conference who purchased charter memberships were given the pledge that his or her membership dues will never increase during their lifetime.

The new Y is expected to be completed sometime in April.

The fitness and wellness center is a new concept in New England, but similar versions are located in Florida, Smith said. They are known as Y! Express.

Notes from the Music Room

Day Parade, it seemed a shame to not have some kind of time for the bands at these events to get together to enjoy and "show off" to each other.

I know that was one of the benefits of some that we went to and you really had a chance to enjoy the achievements of each other. I understand that there was something of this nature that was done this year at

New York, but I didn't get a chance to get information about it. A good step in the right direction.

I also understand that something that our present band under Director Bill Hueglin, who is doing such a great job in all aspects of the program, may be coming up. Things that can provide stimulation and inspiration without getting into the extreme fundraising that can be involved in getting to these large festivals. We can truly be proud of our program

Former student returns to AHS as 'Visiting Guest Artist'

Lisa Hersey gave a silk screening demonstration to AHS art students recently as part of the Visiting Guest Artist program.

Lisa Hersey, a graduate of Agawam High School and a 2012 graduate of Montserrat College of Art, was the guest speaker recently at AHS as part of the Visiting Guest Artist program, funded in part by the Agawam Cultural Council

Students from 15 art classes of teachers Deb Florek, Amber Waters and Dianna DeCaro viewed Hersey's art and heard her "art story."

"I wanted to share with students how businesses look for resumes with experience which can be gained through unpaid internships," said Hersey. "I did an internship with Imposition Press, under artist Sarah Smith. After graduation, I interned with Amy Borezo, which turned into a job. I recently started my own business, Antler Editions, where I silk screen and bind books. I wanted to share this experience with students and show how I am working toward my goal."

Hersey gave a silk screening demonstration and students were able to print images as well. In the spring, she will return to speak to new art classes.

Agawam pins down Ludlow

By Gregory A. Scibelli Turley Publications Sports Correspondent

AGAWAM - The Agawam wrestling team was able to pick up a win over Ludlow last Wednesday night, dominating the Lions

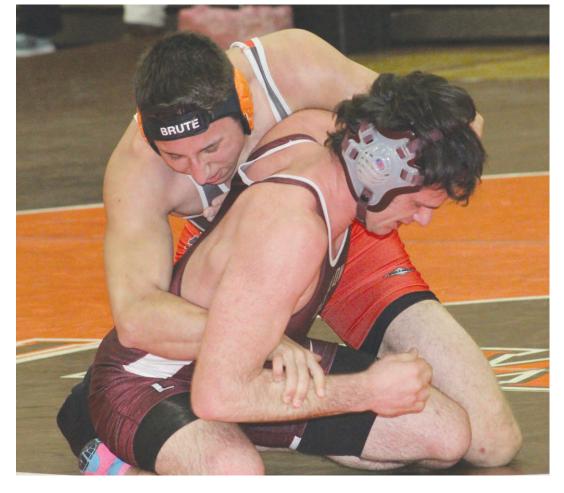

The Brownies were powered by forfeits and pinfalls as they worked right through Ludlow's thin lineup.

Ludlow had a brief advantage very early in the meet when Brian Cormier defeated Vincent Derose at 170 pounds. Cormier was able to pick up the first takedown of the meet and kept control until the end of the first period.

Derose got the first choice and took the up position in the second period. The choice did not pay off as he was reversed. But Derose got back in the match and scored a reverse of his own. Later in the meet, Cormier was able to get a nearfall and another reverse and picked up the 8-2 decision vic-another nearfall, Karl-Morin used Connors arm to turn over the Ludlow grappler for the pin.

Nick Hope was very impressive at the heavyweight position. He was able to score a pinfall in just 33 seconds. Hope displayed great power in throwing Josh Paulo of Ludlow.

Hope would pick up Paulo and throw him to the mat. Shortly after, he scored the pinfall to make it 24-3 Agawam.

Later on at 120 pounds, Daigan Bishop got a pinfall victory in the first period. He was originally down in the match to Dominic Coelho, but he scored a reversal. Coelho tried to get up, but Bishop utilized a leg trip to take Coelho back down and get the pinfall with 31 seconds left in the first period.

At 138 pounds, Anthony Caracciolo was a winner by pinfall in just one minute. He scored a takedown about 20 seconds in, then needed approximately 40 seconds to secure two shoulders to the mat.

Anthony Basile was a winner at 145 pounds with a pinfall victory in the second period. Ludlow's Nick Godbout got the takedown, but Basile would escape and then aggressively go for a takedown. Once in control, he got a nearfall

Minnechaug defense turns back Lady Brownies

By Gregory A. Scibelli Turley Publications Sports Correspondent

AGAWAM - Agawam was denied a last-second shot at winning the game as Minnechaug girls basketball team escaped with a 34-33 victory on the road last Friday night.

The Brownies trailed by just one point when Danielle Stratton was fouled on the floor with about eight seconds left. Play was restarted as Agawam tried to move the ball around quick enough to get a quality shot off.

But Minnechaug's defense was very aggressive as they had been the entire game. The Falcons knocked the ball out of bounds with 0.2 seconds left in the clock. Agawam tried to make a one-timer pass, but the small amount of time was not enough to the shot off and Agawam was denied a chance at Both teams engaged in a defensive struggle the entire game, resulting in a very low-scoring affair for the two Division 1 teams.

Agawam actually led throughout much of the game, but Minnechaug was able to take the lead during the second half, and took at a 28-27 lead to end of the third

Erin Baker would then score for the Falcons to make it 32-29. With 3:50 left, Stratton would connect for a basket to bring the Brownies within one point. Kara Bruce then scored on a short jumper with 2:10 left to make it 34-31.

Struggling to get shots with Minnechug tight on defense, Becca Uschmann was able to lift off a hook shot to bring the Brownies within one with about a minute remaining.

Agawam's defense did a great job keeping the Falcons from scoring again in the final minute, but the Falcons were able to eat about 30 seconds off the time, limiting Agawam's ability to score.

Agawam would lead 34-33 at the break, and came out on fire with a 22-point run in the third quarter. The Brownies were able to increase their lead to nine points heading into the fourth quarter.

While Agawam's offense did not completely stall, they were not able to stop Sabis on defense as the Bulldogs scored 27 points to go ahead of them at the end of the game.

Despite the loss, Agawam had something to celebrate with an individual accomplishment as Tyler Desrosiers set a career-high with 44 points. He would lead all scorers. Desrosiers was phenomenal from all over the court. He had five two-point field goals, seven 3-pointers, and made 13 free throws as he accounted for more than half of Agawam's points.

Agawam also got 12 points from Talon Brown.

Sabis had a balanced attack, with four players scoring in double digits.

Last Thursday night, Agawam was upended by an emerging Longmeadow team. The Lancers used strong defense early in the second half to building a big lead and go to win 71-57.

Agawam played very well in the first half, but were unable to match Longmeadow's offense. The Brownies trailed 34-32 at half-time.

The Brownies struggled very early in the second half as they were limited to just three points in the entire third quarter. Longmeadow was able to build a 15-point lead, and road that in the fourth quarter to a victory.

Agawam was led by Desrosiers with 24 points. Brown had 17 and T.J. Lockwood had 11 points. Desrosiers had four treys and Brown contributed three.

The Brownies are 4-3 in the Suburban League and find themselves in third place. Longmeadow and Sabis are atop the league with records of 7-0 and 7-1, respectively.

Agawam plays Friday, hosting Chicopee Comp at 7 p.m.

more and played excellent defense for the rest of the game.

Freshman goalie Nick Askins made his second start of the season and made 21 saves. Askins is receiving some playing time in place of starter Chris Walles. Askins is likely to succeed the senior Walles next year.

Scoring goals for the Brownies was Brian Scoville, Eric Kierkla, and Cam Rivest. Scoville also had an assist along with Billy Wysocki and Joe Shea.

The victory ends a stretch of five games in 11 days. Agawam tied East Longmeadow before losing to Longmeadow and Marblehead. The Brownies did defeat Wayland during that stretch.

The Brownies lost a league game for the first time this season when Longmeadow defeated Agawam 4-1 on Jan. 16.

However, Longmeadow has been defeated twice this season in the league. Agawam thus leads the competitive league with a 5-1-2 record. Longmeadow is 4-2-2. East Longmeadow has a 4-0-2 record in the league. Westfield is also not far behind with a 4-2-1 record in the league.

The Brownies are looking to make a huge impact since moving to Division 3 this year. The Brownies won the state championship in Division 3A. Agawam was then moved to Division 3 and realigned into the Berry Division, which now has eight teams.

Agawam, however, continues to benefit from having a very deep team. The Brownies have talented scorers on all three of their lines and continue to do an excellent job developing goalies, with Askins one of the next in line to make an impact at the varsity level.

Following a long eight-day layoff, Agawam has one of their toughest challenges coming up when they are scheduled to face Minnechaug Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Olympia Ice Center.

off, with the teams trading leads, and finding themselves tied often at 5-5 and 11-11 before the Brownies took a 15-11 lead following a steal and a layup by Christie Mirski. Stratton would add another basket on a turnover, and Agawam led 17-11. They would go to halftime leading 19-15.

The Falcons would fight back right after the break, with Bruce scoring a 3-pointer to give Minnechaug a 20-19 lead, starting the troubles for the Agawam.

The Brownies were led by Stratton with 13 points. Mirski had 10. Minnechaug got eight points each from Baker and Bruce. Rachel Granger and Madison Babula each had seven points.

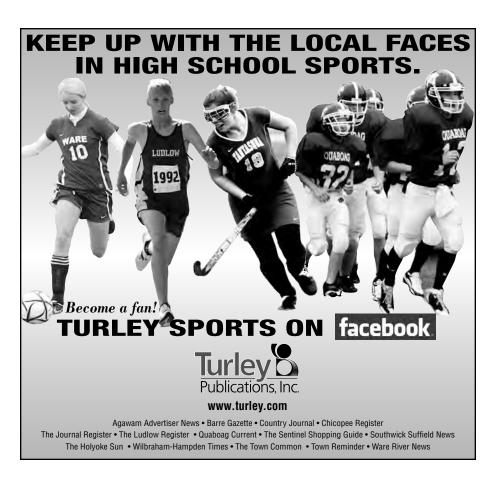

Agawam and Minnechaug will have a rematch Friday at 7 p.m. with the Falcons playing host.

Agawam Congregational welcomes interim pastor

The Rev. Thomas D. Howells

Agawam Congregational Church welcomed the Reverend Tom Howells, Sunday, Jan. 5. He will serve as interim pastor now through December.

Howells grew up as the son of a coal miner in Pennsylvania. His dad was not only a miner, he was a deacon and teacher in the small Baptist church there. He became a licensed preacher when the church could no longer afford a pastor, quite an accomplishment for someone who had only an elementary school education.

Howells received an associate degree in engineering from Pennsylvania State University in 1963 and worked for several years for the Dupont Company in Delaware. After receiving a call to ministry, he studied at Cain University in Philadelphia, formerly Philadelphia College of Bible, and received his Bachelor of Science degree in Bible/Christian Education in 1970

After his marriage to Jean, they moved to Massachusetts and enrolled in Gordon Conwell Theological Seminary in South Hamilton, where he received his Master of Divinity degree in 1973. He was ordained in an Independent Congregational Church in 1973 and received full ministerial standing in the United Church of Christ in 1982. He was then called as pastor-teacher to the Federal Community Church

"I began my professional career in engineering. Living and working in an academic and technical community in Delaware broadened my experience," said Howellls. "Involvement with people trained in the scientific process brought me to a time of personal questioning in which I re-examined my own Christian faith and became convinced of its validity and trustworthiness.

"My wife Jean and I celebrated our 43rd anniversary this past June and we have three grown children, Amanda, Nathan and Benjamin. Jean and I live in the Sixteen Acres area of Springfield. I look forward to an exciting journey with the Agawam Congregational Church during this interim time."

Congressional delegation urges release of fuel funds

WASHINGTON - Congressman Richard E. Neal and the entire Massachusetts Congressional Delegation sent a letter last week to Kathleen Sebelius, secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), urging her to immediately release Massachusetts full share of Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) funds.

With the state currently experiencing record low temperatures, the need for this fuel assistance could not be more urgent. With the recent passage of the 2014 Consolidated Appropriations Act, the remaining $490 million should be made available to those states across the country that continue to struggle through the hazardous winter weather. The delegation also encouraged Sebelius to increase funding for LIHEAP in the FY 2015 budget proposal.

Neal is the Dean of the Massachusetts Congressional Delegation.
